About Who's Got Game:

'Who's Got Game' are an innovative sport non-for profit - using basketball as a tool for social change and development, creating world leaders. The org specializes in the development of basketball and sports participation both commercially and recreationally among businesses and unacquainted communities. Hosting UK and International basketball related events, workshops, camps and coaching sessions with young people, organizations and in schools and colleges, we use sport as a tool to educate, inform and develop and encourage health active living. The charity also looks at how sports organizations can capitalize on using sport to maximize revenue. More than just a sports association, we aim to motivate, inspire and bring the best out of organizations, schools and individuals through the competitive sport of basketball.

About the Amos Bursary

The Amos Bursary by Baroness Amos of Brondesbury, former Cabinet Minister and Under-Secretary-General for Humanitarian Affairs and Emergency Relief at the United Nations. She is currently the Director of SOAS, London University. The Amos Bursary was set up to address the under representation in established higher education institutions and the professions, of young British men of African and Caribbean Descent. We provide the support to ensure each student moves from potential to performance.

About Give Blood

Giving blood saves lives. The blood you give is a lifeline in an emergency and for people who need long-term
We need over 6,000 blood donations every day to treat patients in need across England. Which is why there's always a need for people to give blood. Each year we need approximately 200,000 new donors, as some donors can no longer give blood. Most people between the ages of 17-65 are able to give blood

About The Nike Regal:

The Nike Regal basketball court is managed by the Black Prince community trust, whose sole purpose is to develop community activity and participation at its community hub in Lambeth.
